Dr. Christiane Kasack: How you make online discussions a success

Do you know the Zoom-Blank-Face-moment? That's when you ask a question and don't get a response. It happens not only online. In this career lunch, we will investigate how you can make on- and offline discussions a success by improving your moderation skills. You will learn how to prepare for a panel discussion or group meeting that you have been asked to chair. Brief role-play sequences will give you an opportunity to practice how you ask questions. And wait for the answers.

Dr. Christiane Kasack works as a coach and workshop facilitator. As a certified business coach and career counsellor, she supports personal development in time- and self-management as well as career planning. In 2011, Christiane earned a PhD in the social sciences from the FU in Berlin. After two years of postdoc work, she turned to managing the Hertie School's PhD programmes and later career development programmes for postdocs at the Head Office of the Helmholtz Association.
