Jan Steffen: How to make science newsworthy

Have you ever experienced that not even your family understands precisely what you are doing scientifically? How are the media and the general public supposed to understand? This career lunch is about basic questions on making science attractive beyond the colleagues' bubble and what difficulties may arise in the process!

Jan Steffen is a press relations officer at GEOMAR. He studied history and trained as a journalist after graduating. After more than ten years as a staff and freelance journalist, he changed sides in 2008 and has since been part of the Communications and Media Department at GEOMAR.

The Postdoc Lunch is an informal meeting of postdoc scientists in temporary employment at GEOMAR. The Postdoc Lunch takes place every two weeks on Tuesdays from 1:00 to 2:00 pm. At present only virtual. Information about the room will be communicated timely via the PACT-mailing list. At each meeting, there will be a 20-minute information talk on "What every postdoc should know" followed by time for questions and general exchange. Our new postdocs will be introduced and welcomed.
